

21 days to a better me...day 10

Can two walk together, except they be agreed? Amos 3:3

How can two walk together unless they agree? If you are going in different directions, you won't be able to walk together.

How do I become a better me? By Checking Out Who I'm Walking With?

We as Christians are not to snub anyone. How can we share the love of Christ with others if we won't talk to them. God desires to use us as a light in this dark world. So, if we understand what we are saved for, it should make it easier to get the job done. This means that we have to interact with anyone who God sends across our paths. Understand that there are no chance meetings but divine appointments. God may send a prostitute across your path. Now, God doesn't expect you to share in her occupation to get the Word to her. But what He does expect is for her to see Him in you. Let her see the love of God in you. Well, you can't do that if you snub her.

Few of us asked God's opinion about who we were supposed to spend the rest of our lives with. Too many of us left the spiritual aspect out of our selection of a lifelong partner. We didn't agree on too many things but we wanted to walk with them. Get some wisdom. It took me a long time to figure out why my marriage was doomed before it started. We didn't agree on most things, but yet we tried to walk together.

If God has moved someone out of your life, and you will know that God did it because no matter what you do you can't make them stay, let them go. God may know that this person will either cripple your Christian walk or you hinder theirs. We must trust God to know who we should allow into our intimate space and who should not. Trust God to let go of the things, and yes even people, who He is moving out of the way.
